From Ingramcontent : Lipstick Flavor: A Contemporary Art Story with Photography before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Lipstick Flavor: A Contemporary Art Story with Photography:

Edited by Jrme Sans and Marla Hamburg Kennedy, Lipstick Flavor creates a panorama of lipstick from the world of contemporary art photography. Fully illustrated, the book, conceived as a kind of magazine, reveals a story that shows how this feminine symbol has pervaded our culture and its imagery.Bringing together more than 40 international artists and their works, from Andy Warhol's self-portrait to works by Araki and Nan Goldin, to the compositions of Maurizio Cattelan and Pierpaolo Ferrari, the book narrates a vibrant visual tale.

Lipstick leaves its mark on collars, cigarettes, skin, napkins and glasses, and it's left its mark on culture. (Nicole Brouillette THE Magazine) In many of the images, the function of lipstick is ambiguous: Whether it works as a tool to empower women or to reinforce the male gaze is up to the artists and the viewers interpretation.
