The pages feel like common paper stock, which is suitable for use on the go, as you can fold the pages back while working on mazes. I'm not a maze geek, so I'm not real familiar with these, but some of the pages are printed really dark while others are printed in a really pale grey tone - like printer running out of ink pale. Not sure if this is done on purpose to make them harder to do or a printing issue. Looks more like a printing issue, as some of them I can barely see parts of the maze. There are about 50 mazes and labyrinths running from simple to mind bogglingly difficult. 0 of 0 people found
